COOL HEAT

Long popular in commercial kitchens, induction cooking uses electricity to produce a magnetic field that reacts with metal or cast-iron cookware. The pots and pans hold the heat, while the cooktop stays cool enough to touch. This GE Monogram model features embedded digital controls to make cleanup easy. From $1,999 for 30-inch unit. ge.com.

POWER PLAY

The 360 Electrical Duplex Outlet solves the problem of how to fit two large-plug items (like chargers) in one outlet: Each of the two sockets rotates full circle in either direction. Easy to install, the outlet fits standard wall boxes and has a screwless wallplate that snaps on. Available in white, ivory, almond or black. $10; 360electrical.com.

PRETTY WARM

Electric patio heater lamps from Blue Rhino's Endless Summer line turn an outdoor accessory into a pretty accent piece. Available in seven styles (New Orleans, shown) as both table lamps (from $180) and floor lamps (from $250). 866-758-3900; bluerhino.com.

GO WITH THE GRAIN

The new Mirabella line from Formica Flooring has the advantages of laminate (easy to install and maintain) and the look of expensive hardwood (detailed grain patterns and micro-beveled edges). Available in eight finishes, including Ava Plum (shown). $4 per square foot. formicaflooring.com.
